PHOTO GUIDELINES

Only those photographers on assignment will be allowed space on the floor and their photo credentials must be worn prominently at all times. Credentials are good for admittance to the arena, media room and the designated photographer areas on the MSA floor. Only television photographers doing post-game interviews will have access to locker room areas. Photographers are allowed only within the designated photographers' area at each end of the court. Spaces will be assigned by the Media Relations Department.

All photographers and TV cameramen must stay at least four feet behind the baseline at all times. In the event it is not physically possible to achieve this in certain arenas, an appropriate standard will be determined by the Media Relations Department and the NBA.

Photographers must remain stationary and seated at all times, except at quarter breaks and halftime.

Photographers are not permitted on the court at any time during the game.

No food or drink is allowed on the playing floor.

Photographers cannot shoot from public walkways or vomitories.

If space is available, photographers may request to shoot from the media seating in the stands.

When placing tape on the playing floor, authorization must be received by either the Media Relations Department or Market Square Arena staff.

RUBBER LENS SHADES

In order to reduce the risk of injury to players, rubber lens shades are now required for all still photographers, broadcasters, news and entertainment video and film crews who are authorized to shoot NBA game action. Any additional light sources or sun guns must either be removed or covered with bubble wrap.

Rubber lens covers are available by contacting:

Bruce A. Kwitny
Robert's Distributors, Inc.
255 S. Meridian St.
Indianapolis, IN 46225
(800) 726-5544
(317) 636-5793 (FAX)

The only exception to this policy will be for those photographers utilizing telephoto lenses (i.e. 300 and 400 mm lenses) when such lenses are used to shoot game action at the opposite end of the court. These lenses must be stored behind the photographer when the action is in the near side of the court.

EQUIPMENT

Photographers located on the baseline or sideline will be permitted only one standard size "Domke" bag which must be placed behind the photographer during the game. Equipment not needed during the game must be stored off-court. One additional camera can be stored either beside or directly behind the photographer.

Each photographer will be permitted one monopod—NO TRIPODS—at courtside. No stand-alone remotes or seats other than "lawn-type" photographer seats will be permitted.

All film should be unpacked before the game and all trash should be properly disposed of by the photographer.

LOCKER ROOMS

No still photography is permitted in the either teams' locker room.

CLOTHING

All photographers must leave any outer wear, i.e. coats, hats, gloves, etc., in the Media Room during game action.

TV NEWS CREWS

Credential requests must be received by Noon the day of the game. They are restricted to crowd interviews, outside the sixth level entrance (weather permitting) or inside the sixth level ticket lobby. They must be accompanied by a member of the Pacers' staff. During game action, news crews must shoot crowd reaction from designated areas. Check with the Media Relations Department or Market Square Arena staff for locations.

INTERNATIONAL MEDIA POLICY

MARKET SQUARE ARENA

Market Square Arena opened in 1974 and recently underwent renovations that included new lighting, a new sound system, new seats, an updated video system and new air conditioning.

The building was designed by Kennedy, Brown and Associates and constructed by Huber, Hunt and Nichols, Inc. Groundbreaking ceremonies were conducted Oct. 20, 1971, and the building was officially opened Sept. 15, 1974. The Pacers lost to San Antonio, 129-121, in double overtime in their first appearance in the building, Oct. 18, 1974.

Five nights later, the Pacers had their first victory in MSA, a 122-107 triumph over the Spirits of St. Louis.

Market Square Arena highlights include the 1980 NCAA basketball semifinals and finals; the 1978 and 1979 NCAA basketball Mid-East regionals; NBA's All-Star Saturday in 1985; the annual Indiana state high school basketball and wrestling championships; Elvis Presley's last concert (June 26, 1977); the 1982 National Sports Festival; 1987 Pan American Games basketball competition and the 1991 World Gymnastics opening ceremonies.

Aside from its draw for athletic competition that has included ice hockey, tennis and indoor soccer, MSA has hosted concerts, circuses, rodeos, ice shows, seminars and banquets. The arena has a seating capacity of 18,125 for concerts and boxing; approximately 16,530 for basketball and 16,000 for hockey. All seats in the circular arena are free from posts and other obstructions of view.

DONNIE WALSH

President

The success the Pacers have had in recent seasons, highlighted in 1994-95 by the team's first 50-win NBA season, its first-ever title (the Central Division Championship) and followed up by a 52-30 record in 1995-96, was something Donnie Walsh had been building toward for years.

Back in April of 1986, Walsh became the team's general manager. His goals were simple: establish a solid franchise and build a world championship team. Accomplishing those goals would be difficult, but Walsh brought a work ethic (he rarely takes a day off) and a basketball background that would help him greatly in trying to achieve them.

When Walsh took over, the Pacers were coming off a 26-56 season and the team had reached the playoffs only once in 10 NBA seasons. Rebuilding the Pacers over the next few years would be a big challenge, particularly since two key players, Clark Kellogg and Steve Stipanovich, would have their careers shortened by knee injuries.

But in spite of the adversity, the Pacers averaged 42 victories a season (compared with an average of 25 victories the five previous seasons) and made the playoffs seven straight years in Walsh's 10 years in the Pacers' front office. Last season, the Pacers slipped to 39-43 and didn't make the playoffs, but that was due mainly to injuries to starters Rik Smits and Derrick McKey, along with key backup Haywoode Workman.

That step back didn't deter Walsh for the 1997-98 season. After Larry Brown, the franchise's most successful NBA coach, resigned in April, Walsh had a high-profile replacement ready: legendary Larry Bird. Then in the offseason, Walsh traded for NBA great Chris Mullin. The deal culminated a busy summer that also saw ground broken for a new downtown fieldhouse, an effort which Walsh led from the Pacers' side.

Additionally, attendance in Market Square Arena has been the highest in franchise history the last 10 seasons, capped by 1995-96 in which the Pacers had a record average of 16,438, that included 29 sellouts and a season-ending run of 13 straight sellouts. Last season, fans filled MSA to 94 percent of its capacity.

Walsh, who in 1988 was named president of the Pacers Basketball Corporation (which runs the Pacers and also directs the management of Market Square Arena), received some recognition in 1993-94 as being one of the NBA's top executives after the Pacers finished with a 47-35 record and reached the Eastern Conference Finals. That reputation was enhanced in 1994-95 with the Pacers' strong regular season showing and another appearance in the Eastern Conference Finals, then firmly established with the team's 52-30 record in 1995-96, and the resigning of key free agents Reggie Miller, Dale

Davis and Antonio Davis in the offseason. That assured a large part of the Pacers' nucleus which has led to their recent success, would stay intact.

Prior to that, some of the key moves Walsh has made to bring about the Pacers' success include the hiring of his old college teammate, Larry Brown, as head coach; a trade before the 1993-94 season that brought McKey to the Pacers; the signing of free agent Byron Scott and a trade in 1994 that made Mark Jackson a Pacer.

Those ingredients, along with players such as Miller - a member of Dream Team II and III as well as a three-time Eastern Conference All-Star - Rik Smits, Dale and Antonio Davis (all players drafted by Walsh), have made the Pacers one of the NBA's top success stories.

"Looking back on it, I'm glad we've been able to get it to the point where it is," Walsh said. "I'm happy for the city of Indianapolis and the state of Indiana because I think with the basketball tradition they've had here, it's good to put the professional basketball in the mix with the college and high school basketball.

"I think we've created some excitement in the city and state to have their pro team be a contending team. So there's a great satisfaction in doing that. Now that we're at this level, I think the most important thing is to try to stay at this level and try to win a championship. That's what we're going to try to do."

Walsh's life has been spent in and around basketball.

An outstanding high school player in New York City, Walsh played at North Carolina under Frank McGuire and Dean Smith. After graduating with a bachelor of arts degree in political science, Walsh attended the North Carolina Law School and helped coach the Tar Heels' freshman team for two seasons.

After graduating from law school and turning down offers from then former Vice President Richard Nixon's law firm in New York City and the U.S. Justice Department's Honors programs, he took a graduate coaching position under Smith at North Carolina and then became an associate head coach under McGuire at South Carolina. In 1977, Walsh was about to enter private law practice in South Carolina, but Brown, the head coach of the Denver Nuggets, asked Walsh to join him as an assistant. Walsh stayed with the Nuggets as an assistant coach and a head coach before entering private business in 1982.

But in 1984, Walsh was back in basketball as a Pacers' assistant to George Irvine. He remained on the bench until becoming general manager two years later. He has since been a member of the U.S. Olympic Games Committee for men's basketball for Dream Teams I and II.

Walsh's knowledge, professionalism, accessibility and courtesy are highly-recognized throughout the NBA by players, coaches, front office personnel and the media. He is also a respected member of the Indianapolis community, serving on the boards of many charities.

COACHING STAFF

LARRY BIRD

Head Coach

His statement was heartfelt and sincere: "I didn't want to coach any other team."

So on May 8, 1997, Larry Bird accepted the Indiana Pacers' head coaching position. He was, at last, back home again in Indiana.

Born Dec. 7, 1956, in West Baden, Ind., Bird became and remains a Hoosier basketball legend. He was an Indiana High School All-Star after playing for Springs Valley. He then played collegiately at Indiana State University, where in 1979 Bird was the college Player of the Year while leading the Sycamores to an undefeated season and the NCAA championship game. There, ISU met Michigan State and Bird met Magic Johnson. The Sycamores lost, but a rivalry of excellence between Bird and Johnson was established that would carry into and through their NBA years.

What Bird accomplished in his 13-year NBA career ranks him with the game's all-time greats: he helped the Boston Celtics to three NBA Championships; he was the league's MVP three straight years; he was the Rookie of the Year in 1980; he was twice an NBA Finals MVP; he was a nine-time all-NBA First Team selection; he was selected as an NBA All-Star 12 times, earning one All-Star game MVP award; and he was a member of the 1992 gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic basketball Dream Team.

After retiring and serving as a consultant to the Celtics, Bird's competitive edge and desire to win began to work on him. "I wanted to be involved," Bird said. "I wanted to be out there being competitive every night. I'm too old to play, so the only option I had was to coach."

For the Pacers, the timing was right. There was no place like home.

"This is my home state, this is the place I wanted to do it," Bird said. "The Pacers asked me, really, three or four years ago, before Coach (Larry) Brown came in, if I had any interest in coaching the team. At that time, my back was still bothering me and I still have a lot of problems. The time came around when they asked me again and I felt that if I didn't take the opportunity now, it would probably be my last opportunity."

"I talked to 25, 30 people and after I ran everything by them, I asked them direct, 'Do you think I should get into this or should I stay away from it?' It was probably 50-50. I had good input, but I made the decision like I always do, by myself. My heart was in it to coach and I wanted to be the Pacers' coach in the worst way. This is sort of a dream of mine. So, I jumped on it and here I am."

Although this will be Bird's first attempt at coaching, he downplays the "rookie" label.

"Of course, I'm young and probably will make some mistakes," he said. "I just hope that when I'm writing up plays in the final seconds of the game, I don't put myself in the plays. Other than that, I've got good, experienced coaches next to me (assistants Dick Harter and Rick Carlisle) to help me through a lot of the tough times. I'm new at this, but I feel I can get the job done. I have a lot of confidence in myself."

"My heart is in this. I want to win. I crave winning. Whether I'm going to be a great coach or not, I don't know that yet. I feel that I'm going to be. I feel I've got the tools and knowledge of this game to do well."

When he was a player, hard work, preparation and long hours were part of Bird's regular regimen. That won't change as a coach. To prepare for this, Bird has spent a great deal of time talking to other coaches, picking their brains, gaining as much knowledge as he can. He has also spent a great deal of time watching games on television or watching tapes. And, he adds, "I'll be the first to the gym for practice and the last to leave."

He singles out Bill Fitch (Bird's coach in Boston from 1979 to '83) as a coach of particular influence.

"He always sticks out in my mind," said Bird. "He's a special coach. He was my first coach in the NBA and I've always admired him. I thought his work ethic was unsurpassed. He watched a lot of film and knew what was going on. Bill Fitch was by far the best I've ever seen. He still is."

Which is what Bird will strive to be as a coach, not unlike his pursuit of excellence from when he was a player. As to what type of coach he'll be, Bird says, "Well, I'm going to sit down and keep my mouth shut. A lot of times coaches try to coach too much. If your guys are prepared, you've got them in good shape, they know what the game plan is and they're doing the things that we are supposed to do out there, stay back and let them play."

"I think I'll be very patient with the players. I'm sure there will be times where it will be testing, but you learn through experience. I don't expect those guys to play like Larry Bird. But players who are going to play for me are going to work hard and they are going to do the things that are necessary to win."

Which for Bird, as always, is the bottom line: winning.

"I just want to win basketball games," he says. "I want to help the Pacers get to the places they've never been before."

Bird is married to Dinah. He has three children, Corrie, Connor and Mariah. He is an avid golfer and outdoorsman, while enjoying country music and auto racing.

DICK HARTER

Assistant Coach

Dick Harter, regarded as one of the top defensive coaches in basketball, joins the Pacers for the second time in his coaching career.

Harter, who will be Coach Larry Bird's top assistant, was an assistant coach to Jack Ramsay, who coached the Pacers in 1986-87 and 1987-88. Harter then left the Pacers in 1988 to become Charlotte's first head coach.

For the past three seasons, the 66-year-old Harter was an assistant coach at Portland. Prior to that, he had been an assistant under Pat Riley at New York and Chuck Daly at Detroit. He was a head coach 18 years collegiately at Rider, Penn, Oregon and Penn State, compiling a winning percentage of 60 percent (295-195).

Harter has been inducted into the Hall of Fame at his alma mater, the University of Pennsylvania (he graduated in 1953) and was the first Penn coach to go into the Big Five Hall of Fame. In September 1996, Harter was also inducted into the University of Oregon's Sports Hall of Fame.

Harter and his wife, Mari, live in Barton, VT, during the offseason. He is the father of five children: Linda, Richard Jr., Jim, Robyn and Kerry.

RICK CARLISLE

Assistant Coach

Rick Carlisle begins his 14th year in professional basketball, this time as an assistant under former Boston Celtic teammate, Larry Bird.

The 37-year-old Carlisle began his coaching career as an assistant in 1989 with the New Jersey Nets. He spent five years in New Jersey, where he had the opportunity to work under Hall of Fame coaching legends Bill Fitch and Chuck Daly. He then moved to Portland, where he spent the last three seasons as an assistant with the Trail Blazers under P.J. Carlesimo.

Carlisle comes to the Pacers with a strong reputation in the areas of player development and opponent preparation. This year, he looks forward to serving as Coach Bird's top offensive aide.

Carlisle began his NBA career as the only rookie to make the Boston Celtics in 1984. He played three years in Boston and was a member of the 1986 World Championship team, which was led by Bird. He then played one year with the New York Knicks under Head Coach Rick Pitino before moving onto New Jersey, where he played briefly for Fitch before being offered an assistant coaching position with the Nets.

Collegiately, Carlisle played two years at the University of Maine before transferring to the University of Virginia, where he was co-captain of the Cavaliers' 1984 Final Four team.

A native of Ogdensburg, NY, he graduated in 1984 with a BA in psychology. His interests include golf and piano.

DAVID CRAIG

Trainer/Team Administrator

David Craig is in his 28th year as the head trainer for the Indiana Pacers. In that time, he has distinguished himself as one of the best athletic trainers in sports because of his professionalism, knowledge, work ethic, organizational skills and personality.

With all of those things combined, the 50-year-old Craig has given the Pacers a valued employee whom many consider irreplaceable.

Craig's athletic training education began as a junior at West Lafayette High School when he began working under Purdue University's William "Pinky" Newell, widely regarded as the father of modern day athletic training. That schooling continued for Craig as an undergraduate at Purdue and during summers he worked camps for the NFL's Detroit Lions and Minnesota Vikings.

Craig joined the Pacers prior to the 1970-71 season and was part of two American Basketball Association championship teams which he cites as "very important" moments in his career. Craig adds he "looks forward to being part of an NBA championship" team.

During his years with the Pacers, Craig has been justly honored. He was the first president of the Indiana Athletic Trainers Association and in 1993 won the organization's "Professional Clinician/Athletic Trainer of the Year" Award. In 1995, he was inducted into the IATA Hall of Fame. He has also been chairman of the National Basketball Trainers Association Executive Committee and served as the trainer for the Eastern Conference in the 1985 and 1996 NBA All-Star games.

Recently, David received a Distinguished Alumnus Award from Purdue University.

Locally, from 1978 to 1993 Craig served as president of Indianapolis Physical Therapy and Sports Medicine, Inc., a business he co-founded and oversaw an expansion of to six Indianapolis area clinics.

David has two children, Jennifer and Brian.

MEL DANIELS

Director of Player Personnel

Mel Daniels has 15 seasons experience as part of the Pacers' basketball staff and, again, has provided his keen, no-nonsense, approach to basketball talent.

The former two-time ABA MVP (1969, '71) and the ABA's first Rookie of the Year (1969) averaged 19.5 points and 15.9 rebounds a contest from 1968 to 1974. He was also the ABA All-Star game MVP in 1971. His No. 34 has been retired by the Pacers and he was recently honored on the Pacers Wall of Fame.

A North Carolina native, Daniels was an assistant coach at Indiana State from 1978-82 and was part of ISU's 33-1 NCAA championship runner-up team in 1978-79. Former Sycamore star, and new Pacers' coach, Larry Bird credits Daniels with preparing him for the NBA.

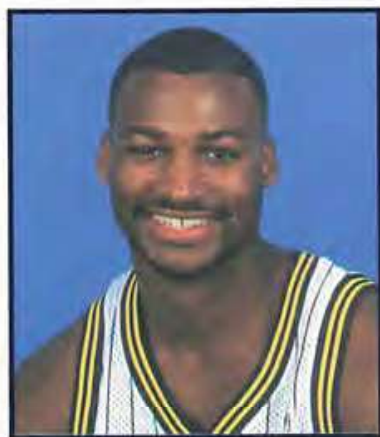

Daniels, who has been an assistant coach and scout for the Pacers, is an avid horseman. He and his wife, CeCe, live in Sheridan, Ind., at the Circle M Ranch. He lists his favorite horses as Ned, Sauce, Fagan and Bo.

NBA TERMINOLOGY

ACTIVE LIST

The maximum number of active players is 12; the minimum is 11. At no time shall a team be permitted to dress fewer than eight players for a regular season game or nine for a playoff game. During the offseason and training camp, teams may carry no more than 20 active players.

INJURED LIST

When a player on the Playing Roster is unable to perform his duties, due to injury or illness, his name may be transferred from the Active List to the Injured List. Any player placed on the Injured List, who is replaced on his team's Active List, must sit out at least five of his team's regular season games before he may be restored to the Active List. No more than three players may be on a team's Injured List at any one time.

10-DAY CONTRACTS

On or after the 55th day following the first game, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. This procedure may be used only to replace a player assigned to the Injured List. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day contracts with the same team.

TRADING DEADLINE

No trades are permitted after 9 p.m. (EST) on the 16th Thursday of the regular season (that's Feb. 19 this season). From that point until the end of the regular season, player additions must be made through the waiver procedure or by signing free agents.

WAIVERS

From August 15 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time, may be claimed within 10 days. If no team claims the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one team claims a waived player, the one with the lesser record at that time claims the player. The cost for a waived player is $1,000, payable to the league.

GUARANTEED CONTRACTS

On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

RENUNCIATION OF AMATEUR ELIGIBILITY

A person whose high school class has graduated and is at least 17 years old shall become eligible for the College Draft if he renounces his intercollegiate basketball eligibility by written notice to the NBA at least 45 days prior to the draft. Prior to 45 days before the draft, teams may not make direct or indirect contact with players who have eligibility remaining. Teams may contact players without remaining eligibility, but may not discuss compensation.

SALARY CAP

The salary cap for the 1997-98 season is $26.9 million per team.

MINIMUM SALARY

The minimum salary for the 1997-98 season is $272,500.

NBA COMMUNITY PROGRAMS

On the court, Terrell Brandon has distinguished himself as one of the best point guards in the NBA.

The two-time All-Star is known for his quickness and ability to create scoring opportunities for himself and his teammates. Brandon is also known as one of the true gentlemen of the game, bringing high standards of ethical behavior, fair play and integrity to the hardwood. As a result of his on-court sportsmanship, Brandon was honored as the 1996-97 winner of the NBA Sportsmanship Award. Brandon joined Joe Dumars, the first recipient of the award.

Brandon's award is part of a larger program, the NBA Sportsmanship Initiative, one of several community programs implemented by the league. The initiative also includes the NBA Student-Athlete Sportsmanship Program and a public service campaign.

Players, coaches and teams support programs that positively impact their local communities, especially those programs that benefit youth. NBA players are frequently seen in public service announcements to promote awareness of social issues. They also participate in a variety of community outreach efforts.

The NBA TeamUp program, which made its debut in the 1996-97 season, encourages youth to improve their communities through volunteerism. The program includes a public service campaign, motivational visits by NBA spokesmen and players, and a youth service award.

In conjunction with Reading Is Fundamental, the leading non-profit children's literacy organization in the United States, the NBA helps emphasize the importance of youth literacy. Each March, the NBA and its teams recognize NBA Reading Month by holding "Reading Time-Outs" and book distribution at schools, libraries and youth organizations. The NBA also produces public service announcements focusing on the fun and fundamentals of reading.

In addition, the NBA continues its support of Black History Month, CARE, the King Holiday and the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse.

In addition, the NBA's 29 teams remain actively involved in supporting and implementing various programs that positively impact their local communities in the United States and Canada.

For example, the Pacers' organization continues its sponsorship of two successful programs: Stay in School, which encourages Indianapolis Public School students in grades

K-6 to improve their performance in language arts, math and science, and Don't Foul Out, which has delivered the "Say No To Drugs" message to students statewide for the past 12 years.

Pacers Basketball Corp. Foundation, Inc.

The greatest thing anyone can do is contribute to the well-being of another. To that end, the Pacers Basketball Corp. Foundation, Inc. has dedicated itself to improving the lives of all Indiana's young people and to increasing opportunities for them to lead healthy, fulfilling lives so they can go on to make significant contributions to society. Hope, opportunity, a nurturing environment, good health and education should be the foundation of everyone's life. Children need to learn basic life skills: to appreciate and acquire educational, athletic, and artistic aptitude; and to have an opportunity for a good education and livelihood. These are the keys to a meaningful existence.

A great basketball team is more than just a group of talented athletes. It takes self-sacrifice and teamwork on behalf of the entire organization to become a true champion, not to mention strong home court support. The Pacers Basketball Corp. puts this philosophy into practice in many ways, often beyond the walls of Market Square Arena with its ongoing community service efforts, and especially through the Pacers Basketball Corp. Foundation, Inc.

The Pacers Basketball Corp. Foundation, Inc. makes valuable assistance off the court that help its Indiana neighbors achieve their full potential and become champions in the game of life. The Foundation's foremost priority is to help Indiana's youth build better lives for themselves. It's an investment in future generations.

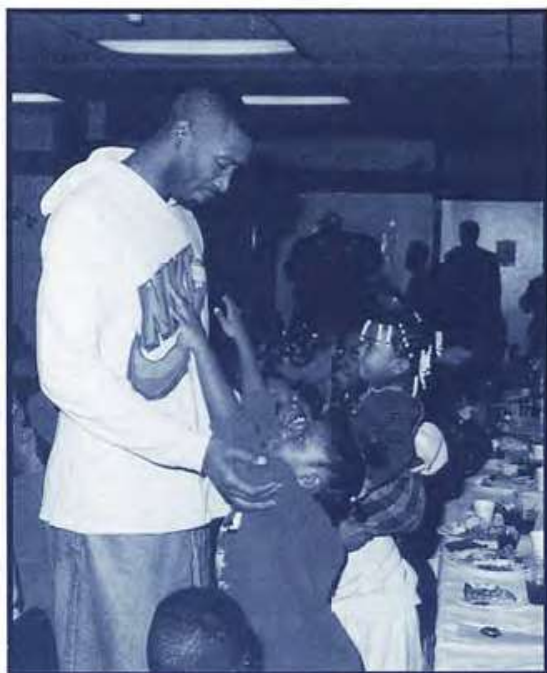

In essence, the Pacers Basketball Corp. Foundation, Inc. serves as a clearinghouse through which socially-conscious corporations and individuals pool resources so as to make more substantial gifts to meaningful projects.

Established in December 1993 as a non-profit, public organization, the Pacers Basketball Corp. Foundation, Inc. has raised more than $2,000,000 in financial grants, scholarships and in-kind gifts for youth programs and projects across the state of Indiana (an increase of 89.5% in three years). We believe Indiana's future success depends upon the success of its children.

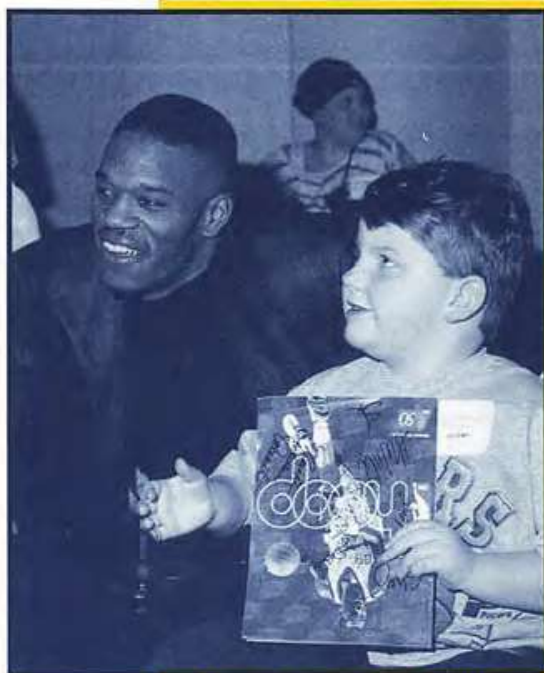

In the 1996-97 fiscal year, the Foundation awarded more than $80,000 in scholarships and grants to 15 organizations. For the 1997-98 fiscal year, the Foundation awarded $193,010 in grants to 27 organizations offering youth programs and projects.

THE HOW AND WHY OF THE "PACERS"

When professional basketball came to Indianapolis in 1967, one of the key decisions would be what to call the new American Basketball Association franchise.

According to Indianapolis attorney, Richard D. Tinkham, the nickname "Pacers" was decided on through a collective decision of the original investors. Tinkham, one of those investors, recalled that the nickname was a combination of the state's rich history with the harness racing pacers (investor Chuck Barnes was a horse racing enthusiast) and the pace car used for the running of the Indianapolis 500.

Tinkham said the "Pacers" decision was an easy one, but the real debate was whether the team should be called the Indiana Pacers or the Indianapolis Pacers. Since one of the original ideas for the team was to have it playing throughout the state with its base in Indianapolis, the official team name became the Indiana Pacers.
